Course Description: This class is an introduction to multicultural arts in the U.S. based upon a cross-cultural history of American art. Students should expect to spend several hours per week writing short essays and online exercises and participating in class discussions in addition to reading textbook chapters and other assigned readings. This is not a writing class, but as it is conducted online, most of your grade will be based on short answers, essays, and participation that you write in response to class discussion questions. We will study multicultural art history from two perspectives:

1. A survey providing a basic understanding of African-American, Latinx (including Mexican-American/Chicano/a), Native American and Asian-American art history.
2. A thematic approach to the diverse art forms created by artists of color including discussions addressing race and discrimination, bicultural identity, gender, social class, cultural traditions and values, and contemporary social/political awareness. We will apply an interdisciplinary approach to art history including methods of analysis from intercultural studies, anthropology, history and cultural studies. Students will also learn basic skills in stylistic analysis and how to describe a work of art.

Student Learning Outcomes (SLO):

Students will demonstrate critical analysis based upon social constructs of race, class, ethnicity, gender and other factors of identity to gain cultural competence in a local, national and global context.

Students will identify, examine and authenticate the values, experiences and cultural contributions of marginalized populations in the United States.

Students will critically analyze and evaluate diverse scholarly perspectives in Multicultural art history.

Students will apply skills demonstrating their abilities to analyze artworks on the basis of social, cultural, political, economic and/or ethnic contexts and issues relevant to gender studies.

Students will demonstrate critical thinking and visual literacy skills through oral /written communication.

Students will write a research paper utilizing her or his ability to analyze, evaluate and synthesize primary and secondary sources.

Required Readings: I have written an online textbook for this class. You may read it on your computer after downloading for free. The chapters are posted at: <http://www.deanza.edu/faculty/cadgemoorecatie/>
The chapters are password protected. See the weekly class schedule on Canvas for passwords.

NOTE: Online chapters cannot be printed. If you have difficulty accessing the reading FOR ANY reason, contact me immediately via email: cadgemoorecatie@fhda.edu. There is a printed copy of the textbook ON RESERVE in the library. YOU MUST READ ONLINE CHAPTERS OR PRINTED TEXT IN ORDER TO PASS THE EXAMS. Instructor will provide any assistance needed to provide access to the reading.

All reading assignments for each week are listed in the course schedule below.

In this distance learning class, I will expect students to:

1. Contribute to a positive, collaborative learning environment online by being open and receptive to the ideas and opinions of others. It is ok to disagree with a concept, but please be respectful of the ideas of others. Students must take an active part in online class discussions in order to pass the class.
2. If you do not submit class assignments by the end of Week Two, I have the option of dropping you from enrollment. However, I consider it your responsibility to drop the course if you find it necessary to do so.
3. Anyone found cheating on an exam or plagiarizing discussion posts or assignments (copying material without reference or credit) will be given an "F" on that exam or assignment and may fail the course. Each student MUST write his/her own paper and assignments, even if research was conducted with others. If two students hand in the same paper, each will receive half the points earned (equivalent to an "F").
4. Finish paper, class and reading assignments on time. Readings complement the material we cover in class. Completing the reading assignments will help your ability to participate in class discussions and assignments.

History of Art Cadge-Moore

Outline for Describing a Work of Art

When studying or writing about the art in this class, make note of the following:

- WHO? For whom was the object made? Specific artist known?
Patron known? (Who commissioned or paid for an artwork?)
- WHAT? What is it? What is its title or subject?
- WHERE? Where was it made? What site and is this an important factor?
- WHY? Why was this object made? For what purpose? What does it tell us about the culture who made and used it?
- HOW? How was it made? What are the materials and techniques used?

Does the artwork reveal anything about the following contexts?

- Historical
- Cultural
- Social
- Political
- Religious or ceremonial
- Economic

What is the subject matter? What motifs or symbols are used and what is their significance? Art historians call this iconography.

When describing the style of an artwork (stylistic analysis), consider the following:

- Scale: What is the size and why is this important?
- Composition: What is the overall arrangement of the elements of the piece?
Is the design balanced or symmetrical? Asymmetrical?
Do the motifs fill the entire design surface? How is space used?
What are the relationships of the designs to one another?
- Overall approach: Is it naturalistic? Based on natural forms, but stylized?
Geometric? Abstract (not naturalistic)?
- Shape: What is the basic shape or contour of the piece?
What shapes does the artist use? Square, circle, triangle?
- Line: What is the character of the painted, sculpted, beaded, embroidered, woven line? Are forms strongly outlined? Is the line curvilinear?
Straight-edged? Dynamic, meandering, fluid? Do forms suggest movement?
- Color: What are the colors used? How do they affect the work? Are they bright?
Subtle in effect? How is black and white used? Are shadows obvious?
- Texture: Is texture indicated? How does this affect the work?

How have all the elements above contributed to the way the piece looks?

What is the emotional impact on you, the viewer?

Do these aspects of style suggest anything about the contexts given above?

About the artist and his or her culture?
